Your report should contain:

Objectives

- ............................................................
- ............................................................
- ............................................................

Results
Copy the results and all figures that you got during the experiment, then comment on it by a scientific comment.

Conclusion

- Your opinion at the lab.
- The difficulties that you face.
- And any other things that you want to say

Remember:
Don’t forget to comment at each figure where the comment is needed.

Your mark at your report is directly proportional to your effort,
So
DO YOUR BEST

Best wishes

Spring 2011

Eng.: Mohammed K. Abu Foul